

WATERCOLOUR TRAINING WITH NICOLAS LOPEZ

30 and 31 DECEMBER 2021 - WORKSHOP 2/4

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE NATURAL LANDSCAPE

We will explore the language of the water in order to understand the fundamental reasons to try and figure out the meaning of water inside the watercolour landscape.

30 January, DAY 1 - from 4pm to 8pm (Spanish time)

Concepts Using the Language of the water we will understand two fundamental resources to try and figure out the meaning of water inside the watercolor landscape.

Strategy A combination of theory demos and practice. We will move from lose washes to a landscape.

Process The wash itself with your own character can be a pretext to suggest maybe a landscape that is your own. We won't use photographs.

Work program: Painting several very small format sketches to explore different washes according to our character. Gradually developing into 1/4 sheet formats at the en of the day.

31 January, DAY 2 - from 4pm to 8pm (Spanish time)

Concepts How important it is to stop "giving importance" to the landscape itself so that creativity can be set free and walk towards encountering the chance of your own inner landscape.

Strategy Again, combining theory, demos and practice. We will go from a photo or topic to the washes Process Working from a photo or a specific topic, while it's fresh, we will return to the washes using spontaneity within a specific structure. Water is the last brushstroke of the work.

Work program: Painting 1/4 sheets to perhaps a half sheet at the end of the weekend. Painting
